Honey Fair October 2021 Style

As reported in July's Newsletter, Callington and District Lions confirm that this year's Honey Fair will again have to be a virtual event. President Jamie Dowdall advised, 'The Lions had been looking at various 'live' events that could be staged for Honey Fair, especially after the success of the Picnic in the Park. However, with Cornwall currently experiencing one of the highest rates of Covid19 in the country, it was reluctantly agreed that for at least one more year, the Honey Fair would again have to be a mainly virtual event.'

Lion Hayley Patton, Honey Fair's Co-ordinator added, 'There would be many on-line events happening during the week of Honey Fair and it was hoped these would include the following: order a cream tea to be delivered to you or a friend's home as a special treat; raise money by having a 'mufti-day' at your school or business; school art competition with paintings posted on-line; Promise Auction; on-line creative music competition; view the honey bees on-line, to name but a few.'

The Mufti Day theme will be a 'John Trevithick hat' in memory of John who passed away this year; John had reintroduced the Honey Fair in 1978.

Last year's Virtual Honey Fair (VHF) to be a popular event with much on-line participation. Thanks to the generosity of local people, a total of £2,200 had been raised. This money has been put to good use helping the community with contributions being made to Callington Food Bank; Cornwall Air Ambulance; Plymouth Soup Run; wheelchair provision and many other worthwhile causes.

Remember we are a local community-based volunteer group and would invite anyone to contact us if they need our help or if they would like to offer us support. There are no bees on the street this year but Callington Lions will still be 'buzzing'.

The Lions are hopeful the Honey Fair would 'bee live and come back with a Big Bee Bang' in 2022!

Cornish community rally to save baby bats born in St Sampson's Church, South Hill, Cornwall – and you can help too!

Do you love your Cornish wildlife? Have you ever fancied sponsoring an at-risk animal? Now is your perfect opportunity.

In May 2021 two families of bats were found in the roof at St Sampson's Church, South Hill. The two maternal roosts are, common Pipistrelles and the more infrequent Natterer's bats. The UK population of Natterer's bats is of international importance and they are listed as declining within the red data book for Cornwall.

Unfortunately, the bats are in danger as urgent roof works on the church are needed. Local community group CRUX has been fundraising over the past three years for the roof, but with the discovery of the baby bats the mission has become ever more critical. Whilst bat habitats are protected by law, it falls upon volunteers and donations to fund their conservation and enable them to thrive.

Dr Honor Gay, Bats in Churches Project agrees, 'Churches are crucial sanctuaries for Natterer's bats and I applaud the church community at St Sampson's for living alongside their important maternity roost'.

To help care for the new tenants of St Sampson's Church, you can sponsor a St Sampson's bat, or part of a bat. The extra cost, on top of vital roof repairs to keep the bats safe is £6,000. The survey identified 30 bats flying in and out to their roosts so each bat needs £200 rent - although babies live free! You can sponsor a whole bat or a contribution towards it (whole bat £200, wing £50, leg £20 echolocation hearing £10). All of your donation will go towards the expense of housing and keeping the bats safe.

The Bishop of Truro, Rt Revd Philip Mounstephen, has already put his name down to sponsor a bat: 'Learning to live in harmony with nature, rather than trying to curb and control it, is one of the greatest challenges of our time. That's why I'm very supportive of the 'South Hill 'Sponsor a bat appeal' – and why I'm delighted to be sponsoring a bat myself. Please do consider how you could help support these amazing creatures – and the lovely community of St Sampson's, South Hill.'

In return for sponsorship you will receive a certificate with your bat's name on it and full details of the project and a list of sponsors will be displayed in St Sampson's Church. You will also be able to attend a talk on bats at the church for free.

To donate go to our Just Giving page South Hill Bat Project - helping bats and humans share their space. - JustGiving then email stsampsonssouthhill@gmail.com with your details to receive your certificate. Or, send a cheque made payable to 'The Rector and Church Wardens of South Hill' to Judith Ayers, Southview Barn, 83 Launceston Road, Callington, Cornwall, PL17 8DS.

For further details of South Hill Bat Project, contact Judith Ayers judithayers@yahoo.co.uk or St Sampsons Unlocked | Facebook or St Sampson's, South Hill - A Church Near You

Poppy Volunteer Group News:

We are delighted to say the group were able to start meeting again to commence their new project. For those of you that don't know, after completing last year's poppy wave and other Remembrance focussed things, we were given grants from Callington Town Council and Councillor Long's Community Fund, together with a donation from Jeremy Gist and our own Sue Pell, who sold prints of her amazing poppy wave mural and donated the proceeds. Together with the very generous donation of threads, fabric and equipment from Councillor Suz Tolman and Tracey Holmes, in addition to the roll of calico from our lovely Barbara Thorpe, that will be the background fabric for each panel, we are in an excellent position to progress the project. So far we have cut three of the panels and completed all the work on the borders around them using the Cornish colours. The first panel will depict Callington during Covid-19. Sue Pell, our resident artist, has drawn all the items to be included, which will be either appliquéd, embroidered or use needle felting. We have made a start on attaching some of the beautiful poppies (created by our community) to a banner that will be used to cover the metal fencing around the war memorial. We still need lots more, so if you feel you can help us by either knitting or crocheting red poppies with black centres (approx. 5" across), we would be extremely grateful.

Although most of the repair work to last years poppy wave was completed just after it was taken down, there is still a bit of reinforcing of the edges to do. We hope to get the wave out of hibernation soon to make those improvements. The Callington branch of the Royal British Legion have arranged with our local fire team to install the wave again in October. We will also be decorating the flower planters and lampposts as we did last year. We hope our friends in South Hill will join in again as they did last year and decorate the remembrance trees and bench. We will also ask our shopkeepers to decorate their windows (they did such a fantastic job last year). Callington and surrounding area is such a lovely community; many people new to the area tell me that they love being here because of that feeling of community spirit and are delighted to raise their children here. We have much to be proud of.

If our projects interest you, please come along to Callington Community Centre (first right of Coronation Road, then first right again into Coronation Close; the Community Centre is located in the bottom left hand corner.) We are a happy band and you are assured of a warm welcome (and a nice cup of tea or coffee). Please don't let an inability to sew, embroider, knit or crochet stop you, there are many other tasks that you can join in with. Look out for our posts on 'One Callington' Facebook group or take a look at our own Facebook group by typing Poppy Volunteer Group, into the search bar. We are all looking forward to meeting you and together we hope to create works of art that will be available to future generations for years to come.

Callington's answer to The Day of the Triffids!

Following on from the mention in last months Newsletter of the Venning's Fountain located on Launceston Road, these interesting photos have come to light. As a result of works carried out on the land behind the fountain, a massive root was found to be blocking the pipe that serviced the water supply.

Hardly surprising that the water was all but capped with this beast blocking the way! Thankfully the trouble making critter was removed the water flow restored and the whole area tidied up to show off the beautiful, ornate tiles. Thanks to all those involved for bringing this to our attention and improving a wonderful local landmark.

Do you have some spare time on a Thursday and would like to be a volunteer, helping some of the older members of our community?

Callington Lunch Club (Age UK) meets in the Town Hall at noon and its members share a lovely two course lunch followed by some entertainment. We are in need of some volunteers to help with the preparing and serving of the food.

If you would like some more information or to join our team please contact Jenny Coombe

1st CALLINGTON SCOUT GROUP

With the Summer holidays flying by, we took the opportunity with the Scout Troop to go camping! What an amazing time we all had. The sun shone and the stars lit up the night sky all weekend. It was a welcome return to camping which the Scouts embraced with open arms, enjoying themselves from start to finish, they rekindled friendships, laughed at one another's jokes and returned to some kind of normality after what feels like a lifetime away !

The Scouts were incredibly busy from start to finish. After setting up camp, the activities didn't stop. They competed in a Rifle Shooting contest, made woggles, cooked their meals, sang and roasted 's'mores' around the campfire and played a wide range of games. They even had an awesome trip to our local Paintballing Centre. Returning home with memories that will stay with them forever: that's what it's all about.

The youngsters in our other sections have also started back at The Scout Hut, brimming with energy. We began with various fun-filled games and problem-solving missions to get their minds ticking. It's so lovely to watch them having fun and hear the laughter echoing around the building once again.

You may have noticed on social media and television, the Scout Association is promoting the newest addition to the Scouting family-Squirrels. Like all our other sections, Squirrels is aimed at both girls and boys with an age range of four to six years. We were very lucky to be the only group in Cornwall who piloted this scheme for two years before it was officially renamed. Our Squirrels have now replaced Hedgehogs with a brand new uniform and logo. The same fun-filled programme just with a different name.

Remember, you can be involved with our group whatever your age. Simply give us a call on 07542366369 or drop an email to callingtonbeavers@gmail.com

Firstly, we have to thank the winding up Committee of Callington Rugby Club for their most generous donation; we already have the shields denoting their conquests and tournament participation. I can only say what a shame this body, clearly well run in their day, should be no more and Callington no longer have a representative Rugby Club. Word has it that there were insufficient players. Thank you to Mrs Trevithick for delivering a whole raft of John's files which naturally bear reference to the resurrection of The Honey Fair, many photographs around the Town featuring 'Before' and 'After' of significant road works / improvements and various artefacts from his extensive collection; these items are in the process of being archived. It seems we are becoming the repository for Accounts / Record Books for many of Callington's organisations who no longer either have need of them or have ceased to exist. These include the complete minutes of the Women's Institute Kelly Bray from pre war, The Choir, Vegetable Fair, The Tennis Club, The Honey Fair. All of these have played their part in Callington's history and it is only right and proper that they should be preserved. Last week we attended the Town Hall for the presentation of prospective plans for the Queen's Jubilee next year. This was very well done and played to a full house, who after the original presentation, were invited to make comments and suggestions. We managed to find the Town's Programme of Events from the Silver Jubilee of '77 and were very impressed by the vast array of organisations within the Town who participated. It is hoped that something similar will happen over the coming months to provide Callington with an interesting and varied choice for next year. This has wisely been kick started early, to put in place the admin that will handle each of the four days of celebration. Callington and Kelly Bray will no doubt rise to the occasion and its citizens will have reason to be proud. We had two visitors last week, each following their own research interest,. The first, a student from Falmouth ,to see what we could find on the Mathematician and stargazer Daniel Gumb who lived with his wife and children in a cave on the side of Caradon Hill in the 18thC. Yes, really! And latterly, an author and authority (from Truro), on The East Cornwall Mineral Railway. This line ran around Kit Hill from Kelly Bray in the 1870s ,with a link to Kit Hill Quarry, which also served as the railhead for ore dispatch from the surrounding mines of Holmbush, Kelly Bray and Redmoor. In addition we found a raft of information for a relative of John Spear of Callington, who traded as a Merchant from premises around the corner from the Station building, including footage of him enjoying a cup of tea in the Flower Tent of the Callington Show in our colour film of 1955! Make sure you pay this valuable resource a visit. Open every Friday 10-4pm and first Saturday of month same hours. Just look for the Flag at the Chapel Entrance of the Cemetery in Liskeard Road.

Monthly Recipe

Campfire Stew Foil Parcels

This recipe can be adapted to pretty much whatever you have in the fridge!

You will need:

A big piece of foil

Mince, quorn mince, diced chicken etc - (about 100g -150g or you could even use a ready-made burger)

Potato - peeled and diced

Onions - chopped (optional)

Veg - frozen peas, sweetcorn, diced carrots. whatever you like!

Stock powder

Worcestershire sauce - you could also use tomato sauce

Dried spice mixes e.g. piri piri or 'steak seasoning', chilli sauce, soy sauce

Splash of water

How to Make and Cook the Parcels

If you are cooking in the oven, preheat to 220 degrees and put a baking tray on the oven shelf. Adjust if you have a fan oven.

Make your foil parcel by piling up your ingredients and scrunching the foil up into a bowl shape. Then add the splash of water before sealing your parcel. If you are cooking on a fire, use a double layer of foil and create a handle.

Cook in the oven or directly on the embers of your fire for about 40 minutes to an hour.

Be careful removing from the fire or oven and when opening the parcel, which will release steam. It will be piping hot!

Use an oven glove and ask an adult to help and also to check the meat is thoroughly cooked.

Place the parcel in a bowl, but eat it out of the foil because it's cool and saves washing up!!

Recipe by kind permission of Callington Scout Group.

As Remembrance Sunday approaches, CAVe brings you this stunning film. 1917 is a 2019 British war film directed and produced by Sam Mendes.

Partially inspired by stories told to Mendes by his paternal grandfather about his service during World War I, the film follows two British soldiers, Lance Cpl. Schofield and Lance Cpl. Blake, in their mission to deliver an important message to call off a doomed offensive attack.

In a race against time, they must cross over into enemy territory to deliver a message that could potentially save 1,600 of their fellow comrades - including Blake's own brother.

The film was a critical and box office success. Among its accolades, it received ten nominations at the 92nd Academy Awards including Best Picture and Best Director, and three wins, for Best Cinematography, Best Visual Effects, and Best Sound Mixing.

Jerome the Gnome's Seasonal Gardening Tips

Hello fellow garden grappers and welcome to my new column for the Callington Newsletter. Like many of you during recent times, I have discovered the joy of digging, weeding and planting to keep myself occupied and entertained. I've learnt a lot - Dwarf beans are actually the same size as normal beans, they just grow on smaller plants and there are only so many ways to cook a courgette before you begin to have nightmares about them. Nevertheless, the opportunity to pass a few hours in the sunshine and enjoy the sweet songs of some of my best friends, (not Mabel the magpie!), has been worth it. With the onset of Autumn I thought it would be a nice idea to tell you about some of the jobs I will be undertaking in October.

It's a good time to think about planting bulbs for a colourful spring show. You can also plant garlic and if you mix the two together, with careful picking, you can provide pretty bouquets for the people you like and stinky ones for those you don't. It might even help to keep the pests away.

Don't save your cleaning just for the spring. Clear away any fruit and veg that have gone beyond their best. Adding them to your compost heap or bin together with weeds, grass cuttings, farmyard manure and even old copies of the Callington Newsletter, will help to make super compost for next season. The telly folk have recently been promoting Peat Free Compost for all gardeners, so making your own is an excellent way of supporting this project and will personally save me pushing my wheelbarrow to the Garden Centre for supplies.

You can start planting hardy varieties of Broad Beans and Peas outdoors, which will provide you with an early crop next year. A friend of mine recommended growing green manure, which to be honest I was a bit apprehensive about. The very thought of planting poop trees, let alone harvesting the crop wasn't inviting. However, he meant I should plant bare areas with a mixture of seeds, (grazing rye, lupins, red clover), which helps to stop other weeds taking over and can be dug back into the soil to provide extra nutrients. Phew! Enjoy your gardening and I'll be back in November.

TerraCycle is a company which specialises in recycling “hard-to-recycle” waste. Whilst most waste is technically recyclable, it is not always cost effective through traditional collection methods which is why councils don’t accept all materials. Crisp packets, make-up, oral care for example, are made from a complex mix of materials which require specific machinery and techniques to recycle, making the process itself expensive when compared to the value of the recycled material.

To resolve this issue, TerraCycle primarily partners with big brands to sponsor free recycling programmes to the public. These brand partners cover the costs of transporting and processing the waste, as well as an optional charitable incentive to those members of the public who sign up to the programmes and send their waste to TerraCycle.

The SHARE Recycling for Charity project collects items via these free programmes that are sponsored by Walkers, KP, Pringles, Nestles, McVites, Jacobs, Cathedral Cheese, Hovis, Colgate, Garnier, Burts Bees, amongst others. SHARE has set up many local collection points for people to drop off sorted items and has a team of enthusiastic volunteers involved in sending these items to TerraCycle.

Please note from 1st November 2021 the pet programme is closing, so no more pouches or bags from cats, dogs, hamsters, fish.. We can only accept Lily Kitchen brand.

You can drop off your items to the recycling trailer at:

- Callington B&M car park
- Tamar Valley AONB car park

- Wednesday Oct 6th 10 – 10:30am
